VIETNAM MARITIME UNIVERSITY

Activities

Being a responsible institution, VMU have issued policies to supervise the use of electricity and water, the restricted use of plastic nylon, nylon waste and collection of old battery.

Students of VMU enthusiastically participated in environmental protection activities, such as

+ Voluntary activities for the sea and water environment in Do Son beach, Hai Phong city, Vietnam.

At Do Son tourist area, The Student Volunteer Team of Economics Faculty, Vietnam Maritime University has cooperated with the local Youth Union to collect garbages and clean the beach area. This is a practical activity for the young to contribute to marine and water environment protection.

+ The Green Sunday strategy hold by Ho Chi Minh Communist Youth Union.

Many VMU students took part in this activity, which contributes to beautify the university landscape and to raise the awareness of environmental protection.
